

Neural therapy

Scars and other traumas to the body can cause areas of disturbed energy flow known as "interference fields". Neural therapy eliminates the interference field, restoring normal energy flow and balance to the nervous system.